DENATURED ALCOHOL.

Medical Statement of What It Is and What It Uses Are.

What is denatured alcohol? Frequent references to it are seen in the daily papers and magazines, but few know very much about it. Everyone knows what ordinary alcohol is. It is also called grain or ethyl alcohol.

Most governments derive a large revenue from the sale of ordinary alcohol, and its retail price is very high; yet the cost of manufacture is small. In the United States it sells for about $4.00 a gallon. It can be made from corn for less than 20 cents a gallon. The difference between cost and selling price represents the internal revenue tax and the profit of the wholesale dealer and middlemen.

Apart from its use in making whisky and other beverages, grain alcohol is a most useful liquid, and in most countries is widely employed for industrial purposes—such as a fuel, in hat and whip factories, in making varnishes, for cleaning metals, paint, woodwork, in color, chemical and dye works, etc. That grain alcohol may be sold as cheaply as possible for domestic and other purposes, most countries have an untaxed grain alcohol, mixed with wood spirit, benzene or other agents that render it unfit for drinking purposes, and yet permit of its use in the various industries. This is denatured alcohol, a specially prepared grain alcohol selling for about 50c a gallon; cheap because untaxed. Before the introduction of denatured alcohol, people had to choose between paying $2.40 a gallon for domestic alcohol, or using the poisonous, vile-smelling wood spirit (methanol); or they could use the equally poisonous "deodorized" form, which sells at about the same price as denatured alcohol.

About 1890 a comparatively cheap method of "deodorizing" the ill-smelling and vile-tasting wood alcohol was discovered, and under various names, such as "Columbian Spirits," "Purified Wood Alcohol," "Colonial Spirits," "Standard Spirits," "Columbia Spirits," "Union Spirits," "Eagle Spirits," "Green Wood Spirits," etc., this violent poison was put on sale. It was widely and shrewdly advertised and all sorts of virtues were claimed for it, the chief being that it was a cheap and comparatively harmless substitute for ordinary ethyl or grain alcohol. It could be used instead of grain alcohol in making varnishes, liniments, tinctures, hair dyes, etc., and as a fuel in lamps and stoves. At first its poisonous character was denied in toto. This led to its use in the manufacture of Jamaica ginger, essence of lemon, liniments, alcohol extracts, cheap whisky and proprietary "remedies."

Soon stories of sudden death as well as of total and incurable blindness following the use of this horrible poison began to appear. It was not until a wholesale drug firm in Baltimore had been mulcted in heavy damages for using "deodorized" wood spirits as a substitute for the four-times-as-expensive grain alcohol in the manufacture of Jamaica ginger that the trade began to sit up and take notice.

Later, examples of wholesale poisoning began to be reported. Parties of all classes of people—workmen, pensioners, bar-room habitués, Indians, etc.—indulging in cheap whisky and its substitutes died or became blind. Still later, it was found that unfortunate painters, especially shellackers of beer-vats, working in confined and unventilated places, were stricken with blindness, and on investigation it was proved that the beforesaid, rebreathed and methylated alcohol was responsible for the result. About the time twenty persons were poisoned in Kentucky, an equal number of wood alcohol victims were within twenty-four hours, killed and blinded in Dorpat, Russia. As a result of these "accidents" agitation against the unrestrained sale of this poison was begun.

Denatured alcohol is as cheap or cheaper than Columbian spirit or any other kind of "deodorized" wood alcohol and can be bought at drug stores wherever the "deodorized" poisons are on sale. There is no longer any excuse for the sale of "deodorized" wood spirits. Its purpose that "denatured" alcohol is manufactured should be prohibited by law. It serves no purpose that "denatured" alcohol will not serve and its existence is a menace to public health.

40 HEAD OF HIGH GRADE JERSEY Cows and Heifers

At Hawkins' Farm, Calais, Vermont

As I am considering giving up farming and disposing of my farm, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder on at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at my farm, known as the Hawkins farm, in Calais, Vt., located 2 miles from East Calais, 10 miles from Hardwick, 12 miles from Montpelier, on the main road to Hardwick, the following:

This stock is clean, with the right color and marks. Have raised every head of them myself. These heifers, that are due to freshen this fall, will please you. The registered sire of this stock was Flossy's Ledostear, he by Ledostear, of Pierce's famous "Red Line" herd of Shetland farm, Winchester, N. H. The dam of Flossy's Ledostear was Lanson's Flossy, No. 171567, who had a tested record of 11,640 pounds of milk, making 613 pounds and 5 ounces of butter in one year. You will find this an exceptionally nice lot of stock. If you are looking for Jerseys you will do well to attend this sale. Also 19 young heifers.

75 tons of No. 1 Sorted Hay, Mostly Timothy, and Right to Press for Market or to Be Used at Home.

Everything to be sold to the highest bidder without reserve or limit. Come early so to look this stock and hay over before the sale. Lunch at noon.

Terms at time of sale.

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Davis and Davis, Washington, D. C., patent attorneys, report the grant of patents to Frederick A. Gearson of Barre, on a toaster, and Harold G. Randall, of Felchville, on a puzzle.

The spectacle of a pair of oxen running away was witnessed in Middlebury one day recently, when Filo Foster of that place was driving to the village, the oxen becoming frightened at a passing motor cycle and running three miles before they stopped. The cart was completely demolished. The young man was thrown out and badly shaken up and cut about the head and body.

Mrs. Joseph Larrow of Middlebury, who had been ill some time, but who only took to her bed Oct. 3, died at her home Thursday morning at the age of 43 years of a complication of diseases. Among relatives surviving are five half-sisters, Mrs. Harry Ayers of Ogdenburg, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Barnett of Middlebury, Mrs. Gordon Converse of Burlington and Mrs. Myron Tobin of Barre.

A threshing gang of seven men employed by George Nichols at Enosburg Falls were all taken seriously ill at the same time last Monday. Their symptoms indicated severe poisoning and it was finally decided that, as the grain was wet, it had generated a gas, which, being liberated by the rapidly revolving cylinder of the machine, was inhaled by the men, producing an effect similar to that of poisonous fungus or toadstools or coal gas. The men fainted and a physician was called. They have now recovered, though some were ill nearly a week.

Arkansas Mines 2,000,000 Tons of Coal.

According to the United States census for 1910, a small quantity of coal (229 short tons) was mined in Arkansas during that year. With the exception of 9,372 short tons mined in Missouri and 400 tons from Iowa, this was the only coal produced west of Mississippi river in that year, and for the next 20 years these were the only states west of the Mississippi from which any coal production was reported. The industry in Arkansas did not develop rapidly during the earlier years, as the census of 1880 shows a production of only 200 tons. From 1881 to 1902 production increased quite regularly, but for the last 11 years has remained practically stationary. The maximum of 2,670,438 short tons was attained in 1907.

In 1912, according to E. W. Parker, estate of Ida J. McKnight Celley.

State of Vermont, District of Washington, ss.

The Honorable Probate Court for the District of Washington.

To all persons interested in the estate of Ida J. McKnight Celley, late of Woodbury, in said district, deceased, GREETING:

At a probate court, holden at Montpelier, within and for said district, on the 11th day of October, 1913, an instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of Ida J. McKnight Celley, late of Woodbury, in said district, deceased, was presented to the court aforesaid, for probate.

It is ordered by said court that the day of October, 1913, at the probate office in said Montpelier, be assigned for proving said instrument, and that notice thereof be given to all persons concerned, by publishing this order three weeks successively in the Barre Daily Times, a newspaper circulating in said district, previous to the time appointed.

Therefore, you are hereby notified to appear before said court at the time and place aforesaid, and contest the probate of said will, if you have cause.

Witness my hand and seal in Montpelier, in said district, this 11th day of October, 1913.

ESTATE OF JOHN A. McLAUGHLIN.

State of Vermont, District of Washington, ss.

The Honorable Probate Court for the District of Washington.

To the heirs and all persons interested in the estate of John A. McLaughlin, late of the town of Barre, in said district, deceased, GREETING:

WHEREAS, application hath been made to this court in writing, by the executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying for the probate of said will, and for the appointment of said executor to sell all of the real estate of said deceased, to wit: The home farm, situated on East Hill, so called, in the town of Barre, in said district, representing to said court that it would be beneficial to the heirs and all persons interested in the estate of said deceased, to sell said real estate and convert the same into money.

And bringing into court the consent and approbation in writing of all the heirs to said estate residing in this state, and setting forth the situation of the real estate.

WHEREFORE, the said court appointed and assigned the 23d day of October, 1913, at the probate office in Montpelier, in said district, to hear and decide upon said application, and to appoint a public notice thereof to be given to all persons interested therein, by publishing said notice, together with the time and place of hearing, three weeks successively in the Barre Daily Times, a newspaper circulating in said district, previous to the time appointed.

Therefore, you are hereby notified to appear before said court at the time and place aforesaid, and to make your objections to the granting of such license, if you see cause.

Given under my hand at Montpelier, in said district, this 11th day of October, 1913.

FRANK J. MARTIN, Judge.
